EX-C4 — Jerry Meyer → Litman, 3/9/2021 — KSU 5-year tail discussion

Direct attorney-to-attorney correspondence (NGM partner Meyer to Litman)

From: Jerry Meyer <JMeyer@nathlaw.com>

Date: March 9, 2021 at 08:28:54 EST

Subject: Re: CASE Act

Richard,

Thank you for your thoughts and efforts to help us. We do appreciate the offers to help.

Your disagreement with not filing all of the pending KSU applications at once is noted. However, more important than current cash flow considerations is the fact that the whole relationship with KSU has put our firm in a very precarious position with our bank. Having such a large outstanding receivable with one client (for such a long time - going on 4 years now) and continuing to do work for that client raises serious issues with the bank. This should not come as a surprise to you seeing as how you have run banks in the past. Our agreeing to start filing the applications now, while STILL waiting for payment, is a compromise - one that is better than waiting for full payment (including from the Finance Minister) before filing anything, and one that is better than stopping all work. While we appreciate your proposal for using the money owed you, the bank will still see that as more debt incurred on behalf of a client that is not paying us.

Which raises another issue in my mind - payments from KSU moving forward. Yes, we have received reassurances that our past invoices will be paid (following the assurances that we received all of last year). We also know that some of the delays are apparently due to their restructuring to have more local control over payments, but until we see this new structure in action with a history of timely payments, we will not know they have fixed the payment issues on their end moving forward. In no way will we allow this situation to happen again; as a firm, we simply cannot afford to carry a multi-million dollar receivable. If this means that they seek other counsel, so be it. It is not worth risking the rest of the firm for this to continue in this manner. Having the work is great, but only if they pay for it in a timely fashion.

We are in agreement that we need to define our relationship during the 5-year tail of the agreement, not just payment procedure, but regarding health insurance coverage and other benefits. As Josh has said, and I am in full agreement, your health is most important. If you are healthy and want to restart doing your magic while we pause the tail portion of the agreement, then we are all for it. And, if you do not want the money now, we are happy to put it aside in a trust account.

I am currently in Georgia dealing with my parents this week, so I do not have the reports - but we will get them to you as soon as possible.

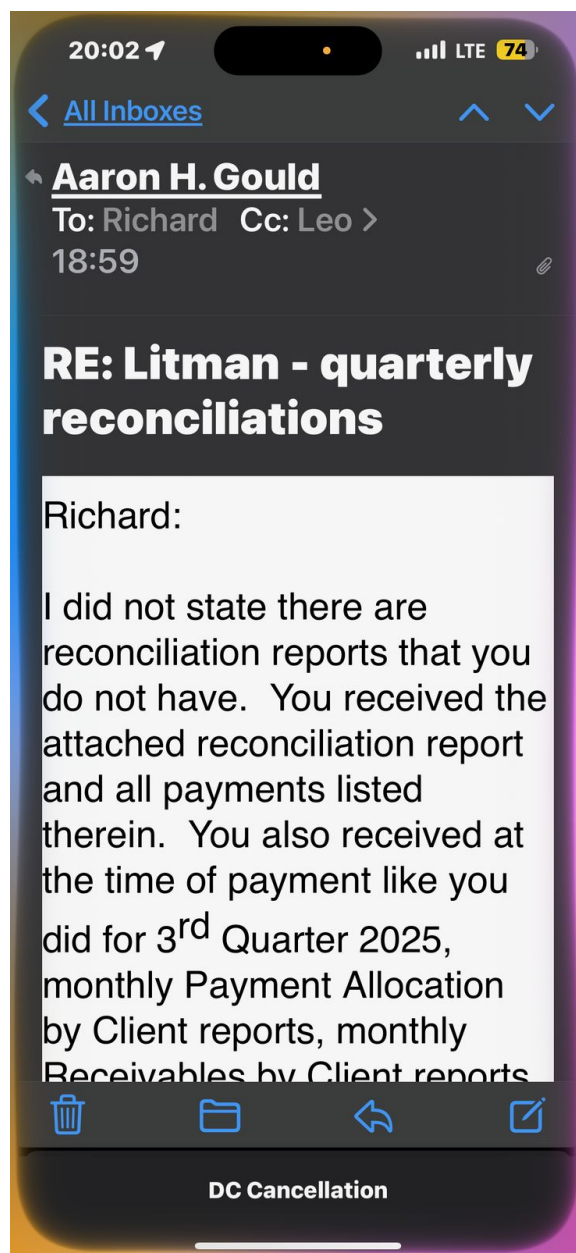

Legal significance: Email from Jerry Meyer (jmeyer@nathlaw.com) on 3/9/2021 at 08:28:54 EST, Subject 'Re: CASE Act'. Discusses KSU receivables, payment timing, and (highlighted by Plaintiff) 'we need to define our relationship during the 5-year tail of the agreement, not just payment procedure, but regarding health insurance coverage and other benefits. As Josh has said, and I am in full agreement, your health is most important. If you are healthy and want to restart doing your magic while we pause the tail portion of the agreement, then we are all for it. And, if you do not want the money now, we are happy to put it aside in a trust account.' Background to Track 1 (Practice payout enforcement).
